Ski New York: Gore, Whiteface, and Belleayre

A few things that will look better are lifts, lodges, and snowmaking. At Gore we are replacing two lifts, increasing our snowmaking capacity, and making terrain improvements throughout the mountain. Two New Lifts for 20/21! Come Take a Ride On the New Sunway Chair & High Peaks Quad., The High Peaks Chair is being replaced with a new quad that will deliver skiers to Gore's true summit, opening up fresh access to all four peaks and the entire Straight Brook Valley. The Sunway Chair has also been upgraded to a new quad, creating an even better experience for everyone. This new lift features a modern and comfortable conveyor-style loading area that is ideal for those just getting started and for groups with small children. Check out the new unloading zone a little further up the mountain too.

The new Midstation Lodge at Whiteface is under construction, along with the installation of a new quad at Bear Den and several snowmaking updates. The Cloudsplitter Gondola has 60 new cabins, new drives, and a new motor.

A third floor on the Discovery Lodge is adding 2,700 square feet of indoor space at Belleayre. In addition to these capital improvements, we've also added several layers of service improvements to protect your pass investment and provide you flexibility.

New York has been a leader in this COVID-19 fight, and our New York ski areas implemented important changes and have been open throughout the summer. We are excited to see the leaves starting to turn and are actively preparing to welcome you to winter. How things unfold throughout our world will be up to all of us. Respecting this situation- its risks, complications, and protocols- is key to us having a long and successful season together. Our passholders know Gore, Whiteface, and Belleayre best and will help us make the most of a winter that will throw us some challenges.
